

Client PCs can no longer write to the shared drive

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.setup/2008-08/msg00092.html>

- From: "Dana" <NoSpam@xxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sat, 23 Aug 2008 15:39:49 -0400
-

We're in a new (7 weeks old) Win2003 server environment w/ WinXP SP2 workstations. Suddenly the client computers canNOT create anything on the shared drive regardless of who they're logged in as (including administrator). From the server console it works fine. The permissions have not been changed. Any ideas?

Thx,

D

.