

Re: Windows 98 SE User in Great Need of Help

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windowsupdate/2004-07/0884.html>

From: Kari [MSFT] (msft_at_online.microsoft.com)

Date: 07/07/04

Date: Wed, 7 Jul 2004 16:47:25 +0100

I don't think this is a Windows Update problem. One of the other MS newsgroups – particularly the very helpful virus discussion group – is more likely to be able to help you: try

<http://support.microsoft.com/newsgroups/default.aspx?NewsGroup=microsoft.public.security.virus>

Kari

This posting is provided "AS IS" with no warranties, and confers no rights.

"s5000" <s5000@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message news:3F1FC09E-E7EA-47DC-B67F-276AC5CC6704@microsoft.com...
> I am encountering the same exact problem. I've tried accessing the Yahoo site and Yahoo mail site using IE and Netscape and but neither is able to pull up the websites fully. I'm able to access some other webpages, but not all. This all started 2 days ago. I know the Yahoo sites are working fine because I can access them from my work pc, but not my home pc. I was able to get to mcafee's website to do a free scan, but no viruses came up. I can't get either browser to access trend micro's virus site. This is quite puzzling and frustrating. My last windows update was 3 days ago. If anyone knows of solution to this, pls advise. Thanks.

>

> "J-MAN" wrote:

>

>> To whom it may concern,

>>

>> I am running Windows 98 SE and just recently, I've heard a lot about this virus going around that takes control of your browser and limits you to what you can view on it. Or that it corrupts the site you use most often and won't allow you to access it. I believe I have this issue and I need someone's/anyone's help who has info. on how to fix this problem.

>>

>> I am no longer able to access my e-mail account through Yahoo!.com, I am not able to access a site that I use everyday known as LiveJournal.com, and I'm worried that other sites will follow. I have no more critical updates to install and I'm at the end of my rope. Whenever I click on Yahoo!'s homepage, click the hotlink to get to the e-mail sign in webpage, all it does it load, and load, and load and gets no where.

>>

>> For these reasons, please do not e-mail me with links or patches.

microsoft.public.windowsupdate: Re: Windows 98 SE User in Great Need of Help

Please reply to this message with any help, advice, links to patches, or anti-virus info. to save my laptop. I will be checking back here throughout the night.

> >

> > THANK YOU!

> >

> > - J-MAN