

microsoft.public.windowsupdate: Now it's our turn.

Now it's our turn.

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windowsupdate/2004-09/1971.html>

From: James (anonymous_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 09/07/04

Date: Tue, 7 Sep 2004 08:58:52 -0700

I think if all the unhappy users of Microsoft Windows,98,2000,ME/Xp could somehow get their heads together and file a class action lawsuit against Microsoft because of their neglect of a system they've created might wake them up a little. Since most of our problems in the windows enviroment stems from them not listening to our complaints and creating a working fix. I think the american people who spent hard earned money for their product should be entitled a 50% refund at least for all the trouble we are having to go through to keep our systems up and running. I just spent the last two days restoring my system to "at least a working status" because SP-2 crashed on install.... I think if all the states could sue for breaches of one kind or another, then I think that WE THE PEOPLE should be entitled to do the same thing.