

Error 0X80244010

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windowsupdate/2004-09/6186.html>

From: fishingdog (fishingdog_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 09/25/04

Date: Sat, 25 Sep 2004 00:53:02 -0700

Hello,

i have the same problem like the other people. First off all, i installed Windows XP Professional on a P4 with Asus P4P800S-E motherboard. When i go to the Windows Update site, i get the error 0x80244010.

I tried to re-installed XP, but the same error occurred.

Then i search in the newsgroups and tried some hints:

1. install framework v1.1 – nothing changed
2. delete the cache,cookies and data of the IE and try update again – nothing changed
3. registered all MSXML files – nothing changed
4. uninstalled winxp hotfix 833978 – nothing changed
5. Cleaned out the Download folder's – nothing changed

I have installed my XP Professional software on this system for many times and i had to register it via telephon, because MS said, that this copy was used to often.

COULD THIS BE THE PROBLEM?????

Thanks for help