

RE: 0x8007045A Error

Source: <http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windowsupdate/2004-11/0447.html>

---

From: Tony Vaughan (TonyVaughan\_at\_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 11/04/04

Date: Thu, 4 Nov 2004 08:09:11 -0800

Have you looked at 'Possible fix for 0x8007045A problem'?

Try changing your browser's default web page to anything other than the SBS 2003 companyweb page; e.g. microsoft.com. This seems to work for most people.

Incidentally, I also am running SP1.

Yours sincerely

Tony Vaughan

"Man From The Moon" wrote:

- > I've tried every fix I can find, still no luck.
- >
- > I'm running WinXP SP1. I don't want to install SP2 yet, so I am using the
- > WU custom install. There are critical updates I need, but I keep getting
- > this error.
- >
- > Can someone give me the definitive answer on how to fix this problem?