

Re: BITS Error 2147942402 (0x80070002)

---

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windowsupdate/2005-05/msg01191.html>

---

- From: "Little Cupcakes" <edmioduckiTOTALLYgmail.com>
  - Date: Wed, 18 May 2005 23:48:19 -0700
-

These proposed solutions were ineffective for me as well.

Can qmgr.dll and qmgrprxy.dll be deleted (assume that dllcache should be involved?) and then a reinstall of BITS be performed?

Note Paca's suggestion is the same as "rd /q /s
"%ALLUSERSPROFILE%\Application
Data\Microsoft\Network\Download-der""

Help me Obi-Wan... You're our only hope

"TaurArian" <taurarianREMOVECAPS@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:%23c8\$OksWFHA.3320@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

- > Try re-registering the Qmgr.dll and Qmgrprxy.dll BITS files.
- > 1. Click Start, click Run, type regsvr32 qmgr.dll in the Open box, and
- > then click OK.
- > 2. Click OK.
- > 3. Click Start, click Run, type regsvr32 qmgrprxy.dll in the Open box, and
- > then click OK.
- > 4. Click OK.
- >
- >
- >
- > Try WU again (you may need to reboot) first.
- >
- >
- >
- > Also this was posted by "Paca" (but with a different error code).
- >
- > "If your computer download an update, but there is not a error number
- > check the view installation history. you might get an error 80246008. If
- > that is the case. you might have an error 2147024891 after trying to the
- > BIT
- >
- > start/run: services.msc
- > double click on: Background Intelligent Transfer Service
- > change it to manual, and then click start ..if you get 2147024891 error..
- >

Re: BITS Error 2147942402 (0x80070002)

> DO THIS !!!!!IT WORKED FOR ME!!!!
>
> Delete the two files in:
>
> C:\Documents and
> Settings\AllUsers\ApplicationData\Microsoft\Network\Downloader
>
> run the start in the Background Intelligent Transfer Service
>
> and you will see the update windows running again :)"
>
>
>
>
>
>
> Little Cupcakes wrote:
>> Thanks for the suggestion.
>>
>> After doing more research, I downloaded the file and ran it, but, as I >> suspected from what I read, that update won't install on my SP2 >> machine since I have a "newer" version already.
>>
>> Is there an unofficial uninstall of BITS that I should do first?
>>
>> Thanks.
>>
>> "LC"
>> &