I have windows 2000 SP4.

I have activated the option of automatic update and it uploads the updates and installs them automatic.

The problem is with the update 816093: Microsoft Virtual Machine Safety update gives Me the mistake: The machine virtual that this trying to install is a component of protected and alone system can be updated by a review mas current of the operative system or ServicePack 4.

The problem is that every day it try to install and every day to give the mistake

Hi,

Take a look at this post by Jim Byrd to get some information on how to update the Microsoft JVM yourself, not using the Windows Update site:
