| On all our client machines, the users are set to restricted users so they
| cannot install any programs that are not approved on their computers. This
| also means that they cannot install any windows updates on their machines.

|
| I have noticed that if i logon to a clients machine as an administrator i
| get prompted to install the windows updates, when the clients log on, they do
| not get prompted to install updates.

| is there a way around this?? thanks.
