

Re: Genuine Windows ActiveX NOT Listed as Add-On

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windowsupdate/2006-08/msg00074.html>

- From: "Robin Walker [MVP]" <rdhw@xxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Thu, 27 Jul 2006 20:01:11 +0100
-

Pete Beach <petes457@xxxxxxxx> wrote:

Good idea. I think I used this site long time ago and for all I know, it's still installed from way back when. Can you tell me which control in the list is the pcpitstop test control? I can't immediately recognize it.

mhlbl.dll or mhLabel Class.

And how do you delete it from within Manage Add-ons? I can see where you enable/disable but not delete.

Try insterad: Internet Options, Temporary Internet Files, click "Settings", click "View Objects", right click on mhLabel Class, select "Remove"

--

Robin Walker [MVP Networking]
rdhw@xxxxxxxx

.