The Microsoft Windows Server Update Services (WSUS) SelfUpdate service does not send automatic updates

<http://support.microsoft.com/kb/920659/en-us>

When you try to use the Microsoft Windows Server Update Services (WSUS) SelfUpdate service to send automatic updates to client computers, the client computers do not receive the updates. Additionally, the client computers do not report to the WSUS server.

When this occurs, the WSUS Administration console logs the following error message: Check your server configuration. One or more Update Service components could not be contacted. Check your server status and ensure that the Windows Server Update Service is running.

Non-running services: SelfUpdate

The event log may also log the following event:

EVENT ID 506

Source: Windows Server Update

Description: The SelfUpdate Tree is not working. Clients may not be able to update to the latest WUA client software and communicate with the WSUS Server.

if that doesn't assist in any way –

Perhaps try the WSUS Newsgroup

| Hi.

| I have this problem (os: W3k SBS):

| I installed WSUS on a server. WSUS receives correctly updates from
| microsoft.

| I managed, I think correctly, GPO's policies. On all of clients I can
| see the time in which updates should be checked, and controls are disabled.

| Problem: in WSUS console I can't see the clients (no one) and updates
| aren't deployed.

| Can someone help me ?

| Thanks

| Valerio
