

Re: new network detected?

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windowsupdate/2008-01/msg01074.html>

- From: "realcestmoi" <mdenie@xxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 21 Jan 2008 00:54:59 +0100
-

Hello Anna,

You are most welcome.

Good to hear it is solved.

Best regards,
Michel Denie

"anna" <anna@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:D4E87536-BF1C-4875-AC98-03031DF51FFF@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

Thanks again Michel. I discovered the answer. It was a response to a virus update. I found my IP #. The link is also helpful.
Anna

"realcestmoi" wrote:

Hello Anna ,

You can check your IP adres by going to: www.whatismyip.com

You best post this in a networking group, since this is not a windows update issue. You can find all newsgroups here ;
<http://www.microsoft.com/communities/newsgroups/en-us/default.aspx>

Best regards,
Michel Denie

"anna" <anna@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:7EE9BDF9-85E5-4030-930F-61B3EC4F5714@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

Hello,
Thanks for taking the time to reply. No, it isn't wireless.
Anna

"realcestmoi" wrote:

Re: new network detected?

Hi there?

Wireless???

Beste regards,
Michel Denie

"anna" <anna@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message
news:756DB149-F024-45B3-A8E0-135E5B270A29@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

This morning when I went to my computer (It had been turned on for an hour or so but I hadn't looked at it) I saw a message from my firewall, through Computer Associates, which said it had detected a new network and had assigned it to the internet zone. To the best of my knowledge I had not installed any new network. The only option the window gave me via a dropdown menu was to change the internet zone to trusted which I did not and to click OK to get out which I did. It identified the net work though an IP number. After that I could not initially access the internet either through Internet Explorer or Firefox. After I rebooted my modem and my router things worked

Re: new network detected?

Re: new network detected?

OK. I was uneasy about it all so I did an uneventful scan and dumped everything else I could via disc cleanup and internet options. It's working fine now but I'm worried about spywear or something. Any thoughts? I am limited in my knowledge at this level so would appreciate any information anyone has to share. Also how can I find out my computer's IP number?
Thanks,
Anna