Please see this, Matthew:

Security Update for Microsoft XML Core Services 4.0 Service Pack 2 (KB936181) may repeatedly appear in the update list on Microsoft Update or on Windows Update
<http://support.microsoft.com/kb/941729>

What's happening is that 'something' is locking msxml4.dll and it can not be replaced. That 'something' could be printer software [Ex: HP] or security software.

Best way to rename msxml4.dll is to boot to Safe Mode as the printer software nor the AV should be interfering then.
