

Re: real time communication problem

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WindowsCE/microsoft.public.windowsce.platbuilder/2005-06/msg01432.html>

- From: "Bruce Eitman \ (eMVP)" <beitmannospam@xx>
 - Date: Thu, 30 Jun 2005 13:48:08 -0400
-

You are trying to run a dll that you built on your PPC? Are you licensed to do that? The rest of us aren't.

http://groups-beta.google.com/group/microsoft.public.windowsce.platbuilder/browse_frm/thread/5c54252323e5993c/

—
Bruce Eitman (eMVP)
Senior Engineer
beitman AT applieddata DOT net

Applied Data Systems
www.applieddata.net
An ISO 9001:2000 Registered Company
Microsoft WEP Gold-level Member

"Amr Helmy" <Amr.Helmy@xx> wrote in message <news:66E9C5DA-DBE2-4B68-8F29-A964592F4F26@xx>

- > i was trying to install the real time communication api's on my pocket pc
- > i'm using the platform builder 4.2 i failed to download the image ,
- > anyhow so i tried downloading the rtclient.dll(the required dll)
- > and register it by hand however it didn't work does anyone have any idea why?
- > if not can u please tell me a way to install the rtc api's on the pocket pc
- > i'm using an ipaq 3970 running pocket pc 2003(ce4.2 based)
- > thanx

.

-
- References:
 - ◆ real time communication problem
 - ◇ From: Amr Helmy
 - Prev by Date: Re: Mapping physical memory into Application space

Re: real time communication problem

- Next by Date: Re: How I download kernel on parallel port?
- Previous by thread: real time communication problem
- Next by thread: Re: real time communication problem
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread