It sounds like either normal.dot corruption or registry corruption. I would try the diagnostic/curative steps shown here:

I am running a Vista and I have MS Office 2003. When I open a document, it will display the Word logo box then later on an error message that says "The document path "C:/....." is not valid" or something like that appears and the logo box stays and does not open Word. When I click on the Word icon on my Desktop, It prompts me to open word in safe mode. I did and nothing happened. I also clicked Winword in its original file location and the same thing happened I also clicked on the safe mode thing and nothing happens. Please help.
