I have used office XP for students for some time. But now that I've changed sound card, modem, monitor, and CD-ROM I can't use Word. When I open Word to "new" document and start to type, the line I type on becomes black and I can't see the typed words. As soon as I hit "enter" to start a new line, I can see the prior line with my typing, but now the new line is black. What do I need to do to restore the functionality of Word? I can use EXCEL and PowerPoint with no trouble. My system is Win 98SE.
