I wrote a large document in Word 2003. I copied it to a CD. I now want to work more on that document, but this old laptop (my only computer access right now) only has WORD 97. To make things worse, my CD doesn't have the document as a .DOC file, it says .WPS. When I open this file, it contains all the text, but there is a little square between every character and space.

Is there any way I can recover my document? Please help. This is two years of sermon notes I need to teach my students.

Thanks much!
