Does WORD produce a "start up log" file that logs the detail steps and sequence of events at WORD start?

Clearly you have some sort of AV program running not Norton or Grisoft it must be some other.

I am not very knowledgeable about this so someone may correct me, but I don't think that there is any need for an office-specific addin to enable this so if Norton is on your machine it may well scan all files in all applications; there is probably an option (in the AV program) to switch the scan off. It should be possible to check what you have somehow in Windows but I don't know how – you could try looking at the running services to see if there is anything identifiable as scan on demand (Start > Run > enter
"services.msc" without the quotes and hit enter to get the list).

Re: Word 2003 Global template and "Running Virus Scan

Cindy,

Thanks for the reply. I removed each file 1 by 1. I received the "Running Virus Scan" at start up at each removal; i.e. with 4, then 3, then 2, etc. With none, there was no "Runnibg Virus Scan" and WORD opens in a flash. I added 1 back in and received the "Running Virus Scan". In fact, it does not matter which of the 5 is added, any one of the 5 produce the "Running .....". Any conclusions?

Thanks
