Hi Jack

could you be more specific, please, about what menu command you used to use?
As far as I know, the same interface is still there, in Access 2003, in the Tools menu.

>From the Word side, I prefer using the mail merge toolbar to the "wizard" (look in Tools/Letters and Mailings). The second button from the left should let you navigate to and connect to your Access database.

Once you get that far, if things aren't working as you remember, could you please describe the problems you encounter in more detail?
