Sorry, there's no fooling Word on this one – different odd and even always applies to the whole document. You will have to copy and paste the headers and footers in Section 1 and 2 so the same stuff appears on both odd and even.

Hi Jezebel,

That's exactly what I've done ... several times. BUT, each time section 3 changes the settings for sections 1 and 2. I've started from scratch (more than once). There's no logic and I just don't understand why?????

Thanks, S.

You're on the right track, but there's no need to 'fool' Word. It's designed to do what you want. Set up your three sections as described. Go to section 3. For each header and footer: activate the header/footer, then clear the 'Same as previous' button on the Headers and Footers toolbar. Now you can format the headers and footers for sections 1 and 2, and for section 3, independently.

Re: Mischievous Header/Footer when Section Break changes!

Please HELP!! I've tried all manner of devious tactics to fool Word but

...

I am developing a multi-section template (I use Word XP) as follows:

Section 1: Front cover. Header is a background logo as a watermark.

Header
and Footer = no selection

Section 2: (Copyright and Acknowledgements). Section Start = Odd page.

Header and Footer set to Same as Previous. (I want the background logo on *all* pages in both sections.)

So far, so good.

Section 3: This section starts with the Table of Contents. From this point on I *want* the headers to be different on odd/even pages.

Section start = Odd page. Header and Footer set to Different Odd and Even.

BUT – this is where the trouble starts – when I set the Different Odd

and Even in this section it changes the settings in Sections 1 and 2. I have tried both This Section and This point forward. Same deal.

(BTW, Section 3 starts with a Table of Contents that has roman numeral page numbering. I wouldn't normally have mentioned this here but I've just

reading the thread started by Steve Bateman and there was something "quirky"
related to this for his problem.)

Does anyone have any idea how to get around this? I've tried just about everything I can think of (including removing all the headers

and starting over).

Thanks a million in advance.
