Yes, you're missing the point. No matter. No doubt the OP has long since lost interest.

Question: I have a form that I need to print on a pre-printed template using word 2003.

I know how to print data only from the print dialogue, but my form has both form fields and ref fields and I need to print them both. Is there a way to do this?

Answer: > "You can put a scanned image behind the text, set to conform to the printed form, and print with drawing images set to not print."

I guess I'm missing something. Form fields will print. Ref fields will print. They will print on the pre-printed paper form. Not sure what I'm missing.

This doesn't answer the question.

Hi Jezebel,

And the method I gave the poster lets the poster print REF fields, or DATE fields, or typed text, onto a preprinted form. Your problem with the method is?

Re: Print Data Only & Ref Fields

No, the question relates specifically to printing REF fields. The OP already knows how to print a form 'data only' which prints only the contents of formfields, precisely for the purposes of printing onto a pre-printed form.

And...?
I think the question was how to print on a preprinted form. That is how to do it. If it is done that way macros aren't needed. But you can write one if you want. :)
